Hakkımda

I graduated from Marmara University, Department of Physics. In the last year of my undergraduate education, I worked in the Organic and Composite Materials Research Laboratory within the scope of my thesis work. Thanks to this experience, I gained experience in working in a laboratory environment. I completed my thesis on Investigation of Structural and Dielectric Properties of Polyvinyl Butyral (PVB) Bentonite Composites. I am currently continuing my master's degree at Istanbul Technical University Energy Institute, Department of Nuclear Research, Radiation Science and Technology. Thanks to my laboratory experience, I am involved in the TUBITAK 122F488 project. Thanks to these experiences, I have mastered teamwork, leadership, time and risk management and have become a better researcher.
